

Emergency Broadband as a Service (EBaaS)

The Problem ...

A standard business internet connection typically has a fault/problem every six months or so. If you want an almost guaranteed “always up” service, the cost will invariably be about five times as expensive! That’s a huge expense for most SME’s and they don’t want to pay it. So they accept the risk and unfortunately have to manage the consequences of no internet in their premises every now and then.

That of course impacts on many areas; staff performance, getting orders out of the door, purchasing and of course customer perception. Furthermore, identifying exactly where the problem is and how to fix it is seldom straightforward. We know businesses that have been down for days !

The Solution ...

We’ve devised EBaaS - it deliberately uses a completely different way of connecting your business to the internet i.e. mobile phone technology instead of copper cables and with the replacement router, EBaaS provides a pre-configured “ready to go” solution. EBaaS fits nicely in-between risking it with no contingency plans or having to fork out huge amounts of money every month for a guaranteed service. In other words, in the event of you losing your standard business internet connection EBaaS is an affordable alternative to a high-end service you might be struggling to justify financially.
